You are Samantha Edwards (29):

For weeks you've been fighting for a man whose heart you don't want to conquer. This fight is accompanied by cameras and followed on TV in every household. Being an attractive, easy-going, and down-to-earth woman generates a lot of reach. You already experienced all of this last year when you were on the previous season of The One. In the first few weeks, your Instagram numbers had gone through the roof and you were able to quit your boring office job. But over time, the growth stalled. Making ads for hair masks and teeth whiteners every day soon bored not only you, but also your followers. You needed to regain attention and then eventually create something of your own with the really big companies.

That's why you decided to join The One again. You had connection to the program, and not least because you met your boyfriend, Benjamin Ballhaus, on it. Benny has revolutionary vision, is clever, and extremely talented. After the end of last season's shoot, you often talked about planning trips, future ideas, and dreams. Although you didn't get the last rose last season, you still found true love. Unfortunately, you have to keep your relationship secret as crew and cast are strictly forbidden from entering into relationships with one another. As long as you both work for the show you can't let anyone find out about your relationship. With Benny, it's almost like you finally have a real family. Penelope has truly grown to love Benny like a father and he sneaks into your room every evening so you can call your daughter together. Without these chats, you wouldn't be able to get through The One. Of course, all of this must also be kept secret because nobody knows that you're the mother of a little girl.

Before you even met the new Rose-Bearer, you already knew you'd would win the "Alexander von Altenburg" season. This was the agreement you made with the producer, Nina King. Although it means you'll have to be engaged to this man for a few months, it also means that you'll get $50,000. Therefore, you agreed – after consulting Benny, of course. And naturally, you also signed on with a great management company in order to bring in the really big bucks after your victory. You made a down payment of $60,000 for the deal; sometimes you have to invest before you can really make money.

But one thing still worries you: Alexander doesn't seem to remember the arrangement with Nina anymore. When the cameras aren't on, all you see is him canoodling with Cheyenne. It almost feels that he has actually fallen in love with her. Just more proof of how simple-minded Alexander is. Cheyenne is incredibly smart and would probably do anything for attention and money. It seems obvious that she has absolutely no feelings for Alexander and you're stunned that he can be dazzled like this. Of course, you've already shared your concerns with Benny about how Alexander could decide against you in the finale, upsetting your plan to win. Benny says not to worry – he has everything under control. Of course, you trust him 100% even if you aren't really sure what that means.

You did NOT kill Cheyenne Aleon. You may not lie during the game. You may withhold information that incriminates you. If you are asked for something directly, you must tell the truth.

Goal of the game: Find out who killed Cheyenne Aleon and their motive.

Personal goal: Prepare your next three Instagram posts during the game. Nothing beats a few well-taken pictures of yourself or your friends on the set.

Your appearance: Your appearance is your capital and you leave nothing to chance. Your hair is always perfectly brushed. Your makeup is exquisite and, of course, matches your outfit. You dress elegantly in sexy, form-fitting clothing. Of course, you always have your smartphone with you to take a selfie if the light is good.

Your feelings about the others:

Cheyenne Aleon (victim): The audience hasn't liked this bitch so far in the season. You're horrified that Alexander falls for her act. You'll be very happy once you no longer have to have any contact with her.

Benjamin Ballhaus: You love your sweetheart more than anything. He always makes sure you look dazzling and come across well on camera. Behind every successful woman is a man who supports her. Good thing you've already found yours.

Ella Newhouse: This sweetie is really serious about The One. She's fallen totally head over heels for Alexander. Unfortunately, she doesn't understand how the world really works. You'd best take care of her a little.

Nina King: Nina is a real queen. You'd never tell her, but she is one of your role models. Her tough, successful nature really impresses you.

Alexander von Altenburg: If you don't have to see your future fiancé that often, it's all good. At least he looks fantastic – pictures of the two of you will be very successful on Instagram. Even more successful if he “forgets” to wear his shirt.

Judith Freud: The broadcasters really should have spent money on a personal trainer rather than on an incompetent psychologist. Her ugly eco-friendly clothes just give you a headache.

George von Altenburg: You only know Alexander's father from the media. 20 years younger, he might have been someone you would have gone after. He is very successful and dresses incredibly well. You are surprised that he wants to appear on a TV show like this. It really doesn't fit with your image of a hedge fund manager.

Stop!
